Neighbor pitches in to help beautify school

Pattonville High School administrators are saying thanks to their neighbor for donating and delivering 25,000 pounds worth of decorative boulders to the school for a beautification project at the school.

Fred Weber Inc. recently assisted the high school in a project to clean up and beautify a walkway outside the school commons/cafeteria. Fred Weber graciously donated five huge boulders (about 5,000 pounds each) for the project and delivered and positioned them for the school.

“I could not believe how accommodating they were and how much time they spent making sure they were just right,” said Assistant Principal Cathy McGrath, who organized the project. “We really appreciate everything they’ve done.”
