

Pattonville Heights students get visit by Bond

Students from Pattonville Heights Middle School were recently joined by a special visitor when they made a trip to the Challenger Learning Center to learn about space exploration.

U.S. Sen. Kit Bond recently joined the Pattonville Heights students as he visited the center to encourage Missouri students to pursue careers in math and science. The Challenger Learning Center allows students to simulate missions on a space station. While preparing for the mission, students learn about science concepts, technology, space program history, geography and the value of teamwork.
